Quaint Lines Combine
Smartly with the New

Just as though it weren't joy enough to be young and slender, the slim young thing has this present new frock to increase the fun of living. It is admirably quaint with its full skirt gathered to a fitted bodice, yet inconspicuously modern with its beauteous top, on a secure neck-line. As though I link the pleasantly sophisticated with the smartly new, this frock, a bow steamer hood, fits snugly bound slashes in the back just behind the shoulders, and carries them from the long sleeves. Plain or fancy trim, rayon or crepe de Chine make this frock really, as it will seem or know, (Copyright, 1927, by Edwards)

I know that what I did was wrong. I should have sent you far away. You tempted me, and I'm not strong. I tried but couldn't answer nay. I should have packed you off to bed. Instead I let you stay awhile. And another scolded when I said That you had bribed me with your smile.

And yesterday I gave to you Another piece of chocolate cake. Some flowered watermelon too. And that gave you the stomach ache. And that was after I'd been told You'd had enough, you saucy miss! You tempted me, you forty-year-old. And bribed me with a hug and kiss. —EDGAR GUEST

CRUCIAL SERIES

The fans have a number of crucial series to watch in the National League. With four clubs thoroughly in the running, the National race should be interesting enough to make up for the uninteresting finish in the American League. Chicago will meet St. Louis in four, St. Louis has Pittsburgh to face this week as well as Chicago. After their four games with Chicago, the Cubs meet St. Louis three times. Pittsburgh, undoubtedly has the easiest schedule of the first division clubs during the closing weeks. The second place holders have 32 more games to play, and eight of them are with Cincinnati, a club that has won only three games of 14 from them. Pittsburgh has only 25 scheduled games to play. The other seven are postponed games. That means seven double-headers to play, which will make things more difficult.

HOW MAY HIGHWAYS BE MADE SAFE

The members of the Town Council are giving the matter of parking cars and reckless driving serious consideration, and the result no doubt will be bylaws governing traffic which will penalize the fast and reckless drivers, especially the latter.

Speeding is not only dangerous to the public, but also very materially increases the cost of upkeep of streets and roads.

In Eastern Canada, one of the most effective regulations in force is the cancellation or suspension for limited periods of licenses. This remedy is so far reaching that it not only prohibits the guilty party from driving the car but for the limited period puts the car out of use.

The reckless driver will give careful consideration to a penalty which prohibits the use of his car rather than paying a nominal fine.

The main point, however, is to arrive at some plan that will be effective and make the highways safe for cars, but also make it at the same time protect pedestrians, especially children, who are very apt to become preoccupied with what they are doing and forgetful of the ever present danger from speed artists.

DATE WAR MAY FOLLOW NEW ORDER

The new rate on grain recently established by the Railway Commission is a very important one to the farmers, and carries with it the possibility, but not the probability of starting a war with some of the American States.

SPORT NOTES

FANCY PRICE FOR YEARLING

NEW YORK—The price realized at the Saratoga speed sale for the big son of Hurry On out of top, Fatima, $79,000, established a new high record for a yearling sold by auction in this country, and came within 2,500 for the world's record price of $72,500 paid by Lord Glanville for the yearling by The Tetrarch out of Blue Ti, which under the name of Blue Ti, again raced but once, as a three-year-old and failed to finish, totting out of the course when the barrier was sprung.

The bidding for the son of Hurry On started at $20,000 and ascended rapidly to $50,000 where it hung momentarily, and it was then lifted by one thousand dollar bids, the contenders after fifty thousand was reached being Bruce Russell, acting for the Three D's Stable of W. Wagner and an unknown bidder. Russell was all through at $60,000 and the colt was knocked down to the unknown bidder for $70,000. It soon developed he was acting for W. R. Cox, who has the honor of owning the highest priced piece of horseflesh in America.

Fatima, the dam of this colt, was purchased at the Newmarket sales in December, 1925, by Louis Combs as Kentucky on the advice of E. E. Consett of the British Bloodstock Agency, the mare being in foal to Hurry On. The price paid was 710 guineas, or nearly $3,550, and the mare was shipped to Kentucky and on March 19, 1926 she foaled a bay colt that was later acquired by Col. Phil T. Chen and was included in the Hinger consignment that shipped to Saratoga. Early in June a prospective purchaser offered Col. Chen $50,000 for the yearling but Col. Chen refused the offer. He was then asked if he would take $10,000 for the colt, but again he refused, and as a reason for his action stated he intended to send the colt through the Saratoga sales ring. It was his ambition to be the vendor of the highest priced yearling in American bloodstock history and in this colt he was confident he had the ingredients to gratify his ambition. The result of the sale was a striking confirmation of Col. Chen's judgment.

This is the kind of colts that A. Loyzell the popular Bow Valley sportsman is hoping to produce at Hobbala.

It is also interesting to note that the Winnipeg Free Press remarks that: "If the United States roads should reduce the rate of tolls to Buffalo, before the season now started it will be for the purpose of keeping this business in the American channels, even at some sacrifice."

It is this is done we would trust the Canadian Government will regard it as a challenge; and meet it in the spirit in which it is made. The wheat is Canadian wheat and the proposal is that it shall be possible for it to find its way to a Canadian port over a Canadian railway. To the end it is necessary that the toll rate to Quebec shall not be more than the corresponding lake and rail route.

This was the condition which the Canadian Government imposed upon the Grand Trunk Pacific when it was arranged that that road should operate the National Transcontinental. If the United States roads will accept the situation as it stands, which will give the Canadian roads nothing but a fair chance to get a share of the grain business on even terms, well and good. But if they try to reestablish a blockade of grain traffic on the Quebec route by making the alternative rate to the Atlantic port less than that charged to Quebec, it will be necessary for the Canadian Government to take a hand in the game. The American roads should be told that the rate from Port Arthur to Quebec will be what the rate is from Port William to New York. With the reduction now ordered it will be 31 cents. If the United States roads drop the rate to nine cents the Canadian rate should drop to that level, and so on down the line.

IN THE HIGHER RATES. In such a rate war the Canadian treasury would of course, have to stand behind the Canadian roads. We imagine in any such rate war it would be the American roads that would first be ready to cry quits.

TUNNEY BEATS RICHARD

CHICAGO—That Tex Rickard, considered by many as the most astute boxing promoter in the world, was "tricked" into the present contract he holds with the heavyweight champion by Gene Tunney and that the Green-white batter will not participate in another fight under his auspices was revealed this week.

Richard is a regular shylock, according to the boxing fraternity, when it comes to handling fine amounts on contracts, but Tunney, who is said to have written the contract himself, handed Richard a swift one with a percentage clause, that apparently meant nothing to the promoter. Rickard read it over and saw where it called for a cash guarantee of $100,000. That figure seemed reasonable enough and he signed over the signature of another sentence that provided Tunney was to receive 50 per cent of all the receipts over a million.

But Tunney evidently possesses a hawk for figures as well as he does for high-brow literature, for with a probable $25,000 sale at Soldier Field he stands to draw down $12,500. Tunney is to get between $20,000 and $25,000 depending on the $100,000 rental of the stadium, transportation, preliminaries, trainers, police, salaries and "hand-outs" with advertising and tickets will run in the neighborhood of another $100,000, leaving Richard's associates only about $75,000 on a $250,000 proposition.

The odds still hang around 7 to 5 on Tunney with the prospects still that it will be even money on the day of the fight. Dempsey's early workouts have not been impressive. The judgment of distance is bad, his swing lacks power and so far he has only been pitted against "luffs." Rickard always makes a bad showing in work-outs, and besides as one was remarked: "If he is going to win anyway, what's the use of burning up so much energy now?"

The belief persists in "wise circles" that Tunney will retire with his million or so. Dempsey will be crowned the champion and that will be billed for one more, and final showing in the ring against the best that can be offered next year.

JACK DEMPSEY'S GREATEST FIGHT

Knocks Firpo Down Eight Times Before Getting Decision.

Prate all you wish of the Corbett-Sullivan, the Sharkey-Jeffries and the Johnson-Willard fights, but most experts agree that the Firpo-Dempsey fight at the Polo Grounds in September, 1923, was the thriller of all times. Dempsey knocked the Argentine bull down eight times. He, himself, was dropped to his knees once, and another time, staggered out of the ring into the arms of newspapermen. All of this, mind you, is less than two rounds. Firpo was sent down the eighth and last time after the second round had been on 57 seconds. Dempsey was dropped, to one knee, first, a right to the jaw by Firpo sent him down.

Coming out of a clinch, Dempsey looked a left to Firpo's jaw that sent

The Argentine down for a count of two.

A heavy left sent him down again. Another left sent him down for a count of nine. Three rights to the head sent him down three more times. Dempsey then became bewildered. As he lunged forward, Firpo's right caught Dempsey and sent him out of the ring. Nine was counted before he was able to get back in!

Both fighters were tired. Firpo probably more tired than Dempsey as they rested between rounds.

As the round started, Dempsey, hook hooked a blow to Firpo's jaw, followed by two to the body, and down he went.

A right to the jaw sent him down again. He took a count of five.

MUNICIPAL AUTO CAMPS NEED CARE TO MAINTAIN PROPER STANDARD

Whether or not a system of auto camps maintained by municipalities or public organizations will gradually disappear and privately owned service camps be established in their place is a question being widely discussed throughout the country at the present time.

On such an issue influential bodies like the Alberta Motor Association have wisely refrained from passing judgment, their position being that first class service to motorists in auto camps is of primary importance and that failure of municipal camps to provide adequate service probably will be followed by camps maintained for commercial gain but of a character to attract the better class of tourists.

Auto camps have been established in a great number of urban centers in the province during the last three or four years and have been utilized by motorists from all parts of the country to an extent that foreshadows a much greater demand for this class of local service in future years. Needless to say these auto tourists do considerable buying at the points where they pitch camp.

Generally the tourists speak well of the average auto camp which they find in the province. However, A.M.A. headquarters in Calgary and Edmonton receive protests from time to time over the condition of camping quarters at some of the towns which they aver as disgraceful from sanitary as well as other points of view.

Obviously in many places local supervision of auto camps is not what it should be, but in such cases the Alberta Motor Association has no jurisdiction. Steps have been taken, however, by officials to draw the attention of municipal officials to situations complained of, and this action has had a beneficial effect in some instances. There appears little likelihood that in localities where the municipality maintains a clean, well situated auto camp with reasonable accommodation, privately owned camps will be established with any considerable measure of success for some years at least in Alberta.

UNVEILING OF CAIRN BLACKFOOT RESERVE

GLEICHEN—On Thursday afternoon, September 22nd, there will be an unveiling of the Cairn erected by the Historical Sites Department of the North Bank of the Bow River, three miles South of Clazy.

This event has great historical significance as it will be fifty years on that date since the Treaty was signed with the Blackfoot, Bloods, Sarcee and Stoney Indians, by which 50,000 square miles of land was surrendered in Southern Alberta by the Government.

The unveiling ceremony will take place at 3 p.m., when the principal speakers will be the Rt. Hon. R. D. Bennett, Justice Howay (Westminster B.C.) Colonel Walker and Sir Reginald Denny. Mrs. Mackel widow of the late Colonel Mackel, C.M.G., who represented the Government at the signing of the Treaty, will do the unveiling. Mrs. Mackel was also present at the signing of the Treaty as well as Colonel Walker and Sir Reginald Denny.

Indians from the various Reserves will be present in an encampment in Treaty Plaza. They will play a leading part in the ceremony and should present an unusual and interesting spectacle.

The programme of unveiling will not last over two hours, and should be of interest to newcomers as well as to the old timers. The ceremony is a public affair, and it is hoped that every person who is able will attend.

LAWYERS IN PARLIAMENT

(Toronto Star)

The Hon. Hugh Guthrie wants more lawyers in parliament. It is a place where lawyers have their natural and useful place. But they already constitute nearly one-quarter of the whole membership. An analysis made in January of this year showed (in 241 seats then filled) the following occupations most numerous represented:

Barristers 56, Farmers 51, Doctors 25, Merchants 22, Manufacturers 12, Journalists 10, Lumbermen 7, Notaries public 7.

From these occupations all ten premiers of Canada have been chosen. Six were lawyers—Macdonald, Abbott, Thompson, Laurier, Borden, Meighen. Three were journalists—Maclean (for a time, at any rate, though originally a stonemason and contractor), Bowell and King, the last named a political economist as well. One Pupper was a doctor. Lawyers, then, do appear to have their useful place in public life. But with 59 lawyers and 7 notaries public the House of Commons should be able to struggle along. What is wanted at Ottawa is not more lawyers or more lumbermen or more newspaper editors, but men of whatever class or occupation, who have outstanding ability, plus integrity and public spirit, plus a knowledge of and sympathy with the needs and problems of the masses of the people.

LONG HAIR COMING IN STYLE AGAIN

PARIS—Paris is having some success in its determined campaign to foster long hair upon its short-haired customers.

Some ladies who said they would never wear bobble skirts, and wore them, or trouser skirts, and are wearing them declared they would not give up their short hair. Yet the least trained observer in the smart restaurants and dancing places of Paris notes the growing number of fashionably dressed women with long hair.

Hair dressers are so confident long hair is due for a revival that they are buying in large supplies of detachable transformations to tide their clients over the transition period. Even hair pins in readiness for the resistance of women's crowning beauty.

GRAIN MARKET A PUZZLE

NIMAGARA FALLS, N.Y.—After driving across seven corn states, the crop and price situation is regarded as being the trickiest puzzle in Farmers' box.

The threatened early frost failed to materialize, but "hundreds of bushels still in the silk and frost" would do serious damage, if it comes before October 1. On the whole the corn crop has improved the last week, but it needs three or four weeks of warm weather to escape frost damage.

All grains except oats are in a bearish position but the bears have made no money in American markets for two years. If normal conditions prevail, the downward trend may continue for at least six weeks, but frost in the corn belt any time this month will find the market heavily oversold and a big rally would drag other grains higher, at least temporarily.

Harvesting of wheat is making rapid progress in the Canadian northwest, according to reports, with favorable weather conditions. The cool weather in that section apparently has passed without the frost spreading over a large area.

Weather in Europe continues favorable for harvesting, which is progressing rapidly.

HOW THE EDITOR BECAME A TOURIST

A country editor, harassed by libel suits, so the story goes, studied the libel law. When he discovered how easy it was to libel anybody, this is the way he wrote up a party:

On motion the Secretary was instructed to furnish each poundkeeper with a copy of the letter from the Dept. of Municipal Affairs, under date of August 23, 1927, relative to the Municipal brand reader.

On motion E. K. Linden was allowed $15.00 for use of road in S. 1/2 23-24-4.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK?

By Edson R. Waite, Shawnee, Oklahoma.

THAT the highest tax any property owner pays is a bad road tax.

THAT permanent roads not only mean much to the cities, but much to agriculture in general.

THAT they will make possible the rapid development of the dairy and poultry industries.

THAT with good roads in every direction and every community connected with each other by all-year-around roads, will make it easy to get to market, will increase business and will draw additional business from other sections that can then be reached.

THAT no reasonable man can oppose good roads and no good citizen can afford to be indifferent.

THAT some of the people that are using the roads are paying for it—some are not.

Why are corn and potatoes like the Chinese idol of the three monkeys?

A gem from the farewell speech of the Prince of Wales, given at the Canadian Club luncheon in Montreal just previous to his departure.
"I started out to try and tell you my impressions of this last trip—the sum total of the samples I have collected since I landed in Quebec last over five weeks ago. I can put them in one sentence, using a some metaphor from mining—Canada, the heart and soul of Canada, the possibilities of Canada, is a reef of precious metal, so vast in extent that no man living can claim it, so rich that no man can value it; the deeper you go, the more astonished you become of the wealth—material wealth and wealth of character—which you find there, and the effect one who leaves Canada is a feeling that here at any rate is a great country worthy of fulfilling a very great destiny.

With every year a lightning page
Turned in the world's great wonder book.

To live to it, to give to it!
Rise, soul, from thy despairing niche,
What if thy lips have drunk the lees,
The poison of a larger thing.
Will put thy puny grief to shame.
Fling forth thy sorrow to the wind,
And link thy hope with human kind.
Breathe the world thought, do not world dead.
Think, beauty of a brother's need,
And what thy rose and what thy weal,
Look to the work the times reveal.
Give thanks with all thy flaming heart,
Crave love to have in it a part.
Give thanks and clasp thy heritage,
To be alive in such an age.

Last Thursday morning there was a near run at the Standard office shortly after the Standard was published. It all came about over a little fish story. "Jim" Moran, who is probably the leading pictorial artist of the Bow Valley, at least he thinks he is, had been fishing at Chalk Lake on Labor Day and landed a beautiful Rainbow trout that measured eighteen and a half inches. So far so good, but when the Linotype operator saw that "Jim" only claimed eighteen and a half inches he made a rapid mental mathematical calculation and decided to deduct for safety five inches. This was absolutely unfair to the genial Irish fisherman, who not only had Alex Gray to vouch for his statements but he had also sent for "Baba", who was upon any subject is accepted by everyone in town except Percy Pariah and Bill Whitton, and Jim claims that his fishing done in the usual way, as neither one can distinguish between a pike and a perch. The Standard regrets the rapid litigation done to Mr. Moran, and with pleasure increases the measurement of the fish to EIGHTEEN AND A HALF INCHES.

How the Linotype operator could for one moment doubt the fisherman's story is inconceivable, as Mr. Moran has a reputation for veracity that reaches far beyond the boundaries of the Bow Valley. The Standard is truly sorry, and asks the public to kindly accept "Jim's" measurements without the usual grain of salt.

A short time ago, a matter of a few weeks, the west papers of the Province were congratulating W. J. I am mixed up over these announcements, and threatens a trip to Blainmore for a speedy investigation.

On Thursday night the many friends of R. H. And-son will entertain at a complimentary smoker prior to his leaving for the quiet and retired life in the East which "Baba" thinks he has truly earned after so many active years in the West. In any case his friends regret that he thinks he has to remove, one and all of whom will join in wishing him success wherever he may locate, and hope he soon will tire of the Eastern climate and return to sunny Alberta.

The members of the Fire Brigade had an unpleasant call to action in the rain on Tuesday morning, when fire was discovered at the home of D. Boileau. The origin of the blaze was the time dangerous practice of banking hot ashes against the side of the building. People would be well-advised to discontinue this act, which always carries with it a danger point. The home of Mr. Boileau was the scene of a fire during the summer months, before he returned from California. Luckily the damage in each case was a small one. The condition of the streets after the rain was the scene of telling, as the boys say at Chiswick, who are "good muds."

FATHER BOLTZ NEW ORGANIST AT ST. MARY'S

What promises to be a most ambitious undertaking is the new musical program planned by St. Mary's Cathedral for the coming season. Rev. Father Boltz, formerly of Rockyford, has been appointed in charge of this work, and will devote his entire time to this, in addition to his duties as chaplain of the Holy Cross hospital.

The new pipe organ, work upon the installation of which is being commenced at once, will be one of the finest in Western Canada. A Constant, similar to that of Knox United Church, but a slightly smaller model, this instrument will provide every facility for the development of excellent music for the cathedral.

Father Boltz, who has just returned from studying in the Pius X school of Gregorian music in New York City, will have associated with him Mr.
Joseph Maguire, who appeared in a song recital with him two years ago, and together they hope to train a male voice choir, which will include both men and boys.

Another part of this program which will be commenced immediately will be broadcasting on alternate Sundays of the high mass at 11 o'clock in the evening and of the evening service at 7:30. Catechism classes from 4:30 until 5:30 will be broadcast twice a week also.

If you are interested in an Ortho-wish to make an old style talking machine for a "New Orthophonic," I would appreciate receiving a call from you. I can give you as good a deal as you may obtain elsewhere, and on trading can give you more than a city salesman would be willing to do, as they have to get their share, and I deal direct with the manufacturer, and deliver to your door. The new Orthophone is the latest in music, and gives 100% perfect reproduction at a price suitable to everybody's pocketbook. Every home should not be with-

BEISEKER

The Beiseker School opened on the 8th, with two new teachers on the staff, Miss Kenny took charge of the work of Miss Hanley, who took a position on the staff of the City Schools, Edmonton; Miss Barry took charge of the work of Mrs. May, who took the notion and went and got married.

The new brick store of Mr. Gaus-man is just about completed, and Mr. Gausman is now moving into his new quarters, both for business and for winter.

The King George Hotel, Post Office, and the New Casino Store are now being wired, and electric lights are about to shine there soon. All three places will be supplied with the juiciest from the Dominion Garage.

The Traveling Clinic will visit Beiseker on October 3rd and 4th. Keep these dates in mind.

A new stooker arrived at Bill Schultz's. We wish him health and success.

The new Pool Elevator is now completed, and Mr. Leslie, the man in charge, states that he is ready for business.

The Parish of St. Michael's Elevator is not yet finished, but we are assured that it will be in a week or so. Beiseker is growing a brick garage, a brick store, two elevators—all springing up within the last few months.

Guthrie Berth, who has one thousand acres in wheat, expected to receive grade No. 1 for all his wheat this fall, but after the frost he admitted that it might be somewhat less,
and when he drove into the garage
Saturday, coming out of a flooded street, wondering whether he would be allowed to enter the garage with his boat, he replied to a question, that he would be satisfied to take grade 2 to 5 for his wheat.

Schultz brothers, who have bought a harvest, threshed, had Saturday afternoon set aside for the trying out of this machine, on a field one mile south of Beiseker, and many farmers were on the spot to watch same in operation. All was set, the old Hundred that was to pull it was running, and it was only a few minutes to sit up, and the outfit was to be away—the first one in the district. The crowd was anxious that it start, and while hustling and bustling getting things in readiness, with everyone on their toes, restlessly moving about, something happened—it rained—no it poured, and all made for shelter. The Terrace was making the best of this, and what was tied behind a big Buick, going down the road which looked like a lake; soaked to the skin and full of mud to the top—yet he smiled.

The two-room addition, with a full bath, under both new and old part of tenement number 2, is now completed, making this a seven room house. We understand that the house is also having a hot water heating system installed, making this house quite modern, a credit to the board and district.

J. H. Schmaltz is not only pushing harvesting operations, but we saw him pushing his car Saturday also.

HEARD ON THE STREET

"It's queer," said Rexall Red, "that so many men with double eyelids and science are so terrible credulous about a horse race tip."

Aggie: "Your blommers are showing."

Alice: "They aren't pulling, dear, they're yours."

Youth: "Say, I hope this train goes through a lot of tunnels."

Maiden: "My gracious, boy, do you have to wait for a tunnel?"

Marshall Kimpson: "Tinty, you had no right to touch that wire. Don't you know you might have been killed by the shock?"

Timmy: "Sure, I felt it carefully before I took hold of it."

He was incurably romantic and she was incurably prosaic.

Once he asked her: "Have you never met a man at whose slightest touch you trembled in every limb?"

"Oh, yes," she replied, "the dentist."

"I only drink champagne on really special occasions," said Bill Tenny.

"And what do you call a big occasion?"

"When I drink champagne," cooly replied Uncle Ben.

Lady (to tramp): "Why on earth don't you work like anyone else? Hard work never killed anyone."

Tramp: "You're wrong mum. I lost both of my wives that way."

The champion acrobatic man of the world was an aviator who jumped out of his airplane and forgot his parachute until he was half way down.

Jim Swanson says: "Marriage is a fifty-fifty proposition," and an old married man in the pool room recommended: "That's right. Fifty for this and fifty for that."

"He's so romantic. Whenever he speaks to her he starts, 'Fair Lady!'"

"Oh, that's the force of habit. He used to be a street-car conductor," replied King Kelly, the tennan.

First Movie Actor: "So the pistol was loaded with ball instead of blanks; well, that certainly was tough."

Second Movie Actor: "Oh, I wouldn't have minded it so much, but the director yelled, 'That isn't the way to fall when you're shot, you poor sap!'"

A minister who had not been long appointed to a church in the south of Scotland asked one lady how she liked his preaching.

"I like him at it at," she answered.

"And, pray, why not?" he asked.

"Well, in the first place," she answered, "you read my sermon; and in the second place, you didn't read it well; and in the third place, it wasn't worth the reading."

The maid was leaving and her mistress said to her: "Mary, I should like to give you a good reference, but my conscience compels me to state that you never got the meals ready at the proper time. Now, I wonder how I can put it in a nice way?"

"Well, ma'am," said Mary, "you can say I got the meals the same as I got my pay."

Manager: "You? You come into this famous restaurant, drink to glass of water and walk calmly out?"

Joek Taylor: "Hoosm no? Did you expect me to stagger out?"

The clergyman of a small village said to a youth of his flock, "I'm afraid, Wilfred, you're tampering with the affections of several girls in this district. I'm told that you're courting a girl in Strathmore, another in Calgary, and a third at Inglewood."

"Well, sir," said Wilfred, "really I cannot deny it truthfully."

Bill Tierney says: "There ain't no way of telling, but his notion is it's all right to say your prayers lying down after a hard day's work."

May: "I can't stand Wilfred; he's such a slow coach."

Friend: "You prefer the fast male, ah, dear?"

She: "I've just put my fire in cold storage."

He: "Oh, is that what they call it now? My watch and studs are there, too!"

She: "How many cigarettes do you smoke a day?"

He: "Oh, any given number."

"No, young man, words do not matter. It is only deeds that matter; words never count."

"Don't you nod yourself; did you ever try that theory on D. A. Perry, every word counts when he takes a message."

"Oh, Mr. Wilkinson," she exclaimed, "I'm told you are an expert in dogs. I do love dogs so. I have the dearest little pup. His name is Cupid. The sweetest little thing, just as fat as he can be. Now, Mr. Wilkinson, I want to ask you just one question. You will tell me, I know."

"Certainly."

"Is an ocean greyhound anything like a water-gamnel?"

"Can you beat that," said Bill as he meandered away to get his soup and nuts.

Willie: "Mother, if baby ate frogs would it make him croak like a frog?"

Mother: "Good gracious, no. They'd kill him."

Willie: "Well, so far they have not."

A nursing-bottle advertisement reads: "When the baby is done drinking it should be unscrewed and laid in a cool place under a tap. If the baby does not thrive on fresh milk, it should be boiled."

Bobbie: "Well, Tommy, congratulate your sister has just promised to marry me."

Tommy: "That's old news. She promised mother she'd marry you ages ago."

Teacher: "Now, children, here's a question in mental arithmetic: How old would a person be who was born in 1887?"

Red Rellinger: "Please, teacher, was it a man or a woman?"

The teacher had asked Vincent what a heliograph was.

"Please, teacher," came the reply, "I think it's something you have to live at weddins."

Scrubwoman (to child): "Wot, Willie, did I hear you say 'aint'?"

Willie: "I'm sorry, I said 'aint' for 'is'."

Teacher: "All right, make it snappy."

Everything was in readiness for the marriage ceremony.

"What's so queer? ye, Jack?" asked Pete Telford, tipping up the aisle.

"I've ye lost the ring?"

The other gazed at his bride's immaculate attire and general air of gay cheerfulness. Then he heaved a wistful sigh.

"No," Jack answered rather despondently: "The ring's safe enough, man, but I've lost me wild enthusiasm, and I think I will call for a new deal."

A Calgary motorist, who ran out of gasoline, met a young lad going down Stokton Road carrying a big tin can.

"Say, my lad," he called, "I hope that's gasoline you have in that can."

"Aye, it ain't," replied the lad, "it would take awid on mek's pancreas, and me would give Martin Garrett the dickens."

WOLGAST DECLARED TO BE INSANE

LOS ANGELES, Calif.—Ad Wolgast, who enjoyed a brief but hectic reign as lightweight champion of the world 17 years ago, has been declared insane by a jury of his peers.

Allegedly at his hearing said he was suffering from "deterioration of the brain cells."

But to his friends of the pugilistic world he is "punch drunk." His rise to fame as "king of the little fellows," they said, had led to his insanity.

When Wolgast knocked "Bat" Nelson to win the title in 1910, after 40 rounds of hard fighting, it was noted that he could "take it" as none of them could. Nelson was warned of his ability to stand punishment, but even he succumbed to the greater stamina of Wolgast.

Then Wolgast defended his championship against Joe Jivers and was knocked out.

But Rivers fell down first, the referee ruled, and he was counted out while the unconscious Wolgast was held upright by the officials.

A pitiful spectacle was presented in court when the former champion's case was called. He stood before the judge and heard of his disgrace and his "punch-drunk" condition.

"I'm all ready for the best of them, running every day," Wolgast said, grinning. "I've done road work. That's the only way to train. I'll be champion again in a few weeks."

A few minutes later the order pending him to Patton institute for the rest of his life was issued.

Wolgast suffered loss of memory in 1920. Since then he had been in care of friends, but recently he became violent and an insanity complaint was made.

CHANGING THE HUDSON BAY RAILWAY HARBOR

Some six millions of public money had already been expended in making a new sort of a harbor at Nelson for the terminus of the Hudson Bay railway before Minister Danahoe decided to change the terminus to Churchill, at the mouth of the Churchill River.

Nelson was not particularly satisfactory. It was found that the harbor was constantly filling up; that millions of cubic yards of sand would have to be dredged before the harbor could be used by ocean-going vessels, and that the material dredged from the bottom of the Nelson River would have to be transported 22 miles by sea before it could be dumped.

Mr. Danahoe's hands, the project which he termed the "most enterprising and ablest harbor engineer in the world," and Mr. Palmer strongly favors Churchill in face of the fact that other engineers had chosen Nelson and the country had expended millions there. Sir Henry Thornton thoroughly approves of Mr. Palmer's decision. In the face of their opinion it would be unwise to go on spending money at Nelson, and find out later on that it was not a suitable harbor.

The Hudson Bay Railway is looked upon by many as more or less of a joke, but in the view of a number of Canada's leading administrators, it is a project which has capacities for service for the northern sections of several of the provinces which may develop within the next generation, if not sooner. In Mr. Danahoe's hands, the project will have a fair show.—Red Deer Advocate

WORK PROGRESSING TOWARDS CHURCHILL

WINNIPEG, Man.—The bridge crossing the Limestone River at Mile 350 on the Hudson Bay Railway will be completed by the middle of September, according to a statement made by H. A. Dixon, chief engineer of the Canadian National Railways, who is in charge of the construction of the road.

As soon as the bridge is finished, truck laying will be started from the Limestone River to Mile 558, the new junction point at Fort Churchill.

In the meantime a location party is in the field looking the line towards Churchill, and as soon as the track is laid to Mile 558, work will be started

In clearing, grading and ditching the line towards Churchill. It is expected that this work will be continued into December before weather conditions interfere.

All summer more than thirteen hundred men have been engaged ballasting, widening, lifting fills and ditching on the Hudson Bay Railway between The Pas and Mile 350, the present end of steel. Considerable progress has been made, and the track for almost all of the distance is in first-class operating condition. Three stone sheds are being used in this work.

In addition the two bridges over the Nelson and the one over the Saskatchewan, which have been completely repaired, this work being finished yesterday.

THE MAYOR AND COUNCILLORS
DO THOUGHTFUL ACT

At the last meeting of the Town Council the members honored two local men by naming the park and road.

Mr. Lambert and Mr. Stockton have done much for Strathmore—Mr. Stockton is carrying out the plan to establish the Park which would be a credit to a town much larger, and mainly to his vision it is now in the advanced condition that it is.

Mr. Lambert served the residents for many years, being the first mayor, and to give freely of his time and ability when the town was passing through its early days, which created many problems that do not exist now.

Long after these men have passed to their reward the named park and road will keep the memories of these early workers in the interest of the town in memory, through the thoughtfulness of the present mayor and councillors.

VACATION SEASON
EXPENDED EXPENDITURE OF MILLIONS

The holiday season is now mainly at an end for this year. The teachers and pupils and other vacationists are again back on duty, fully invigorated and in fine physical condition to do their best work.

The cost of vacations in Canada has been estimated by the census bureau of looking up statistics at $200,000,000 this year, and it speaks volumes for Canadian prosperity that permits of such a vast expenditure.

The tourist camps have been worked to capacity, and the railroads and steamship lines have done a splendid business.

The towns from coast to coast have added a very material business increase, and almost everyone directly or indirectly has received financial benefit.

The main cause for appreciation, however, is that this large expenditure has not been made by the people who are known as the leisure class, but rather by the people who throughout the year are busy serving the public in their own individual avenue of public service.

The service of the tourist has developed a business of immense magnitude, creating employment for thousands as it is necessary for many to stay on the job to serve the tourist.

THE HARVESTER
EXCURSION TRAIN
IS UNIQUE

A trip on a harvester train one on which the newly arrived harvester is paying his railway fare, not the "special" which many of the "snow birds" who without the customary courtesy and undignified plan of riding the bumpers.

One may hear elsewhere unique incidents that would present chances that would make Nellie McLaughlin, Bob Stead and Ralph Corns turn green with envy.

The party contains Varsity students, farmers sons, many of whom are making their first long train trip, live young American boys filled with an adventurous spirit, young Brazilians who have come across the pond to "tip in the harvest which the bloomers" of the old time harvest veterans who have been making an annual trip to the west for years, and who takes special delight in telling yarns that would make Jim Moran jealous, the happy young French Canadian topped out a lumber camp, in breeches, meekness, and his warm woolen socks, and possibly a few real hobos who rode the bumpers part way until as opportunely presented itself to join the party unobserved by any of the train officials, and occasionally you will find a few of the harvesters accompanied by their wives, sometimes it is a honeymoon trip.

A couple of Mounties often accompany the party, and entertain the train with western stories of deeds of daring that meet with the greatest appreciation, or the travelers many of whom are well posted on the early history of the Mounties, and are pleased beyond measure to be able to even reach the heart of the land of men who have made such records.

A great contrast exists in the baggage, some of the Eastern boys bringing one or two suit cases, while the real true and tried harvester does not permit himself to be so encumbered and limits his outfit to a collar box and tooth brush, and in some cases even abandons the tooth brush.

The harvester trains do not carry dining cars. Each harvester becomes his own chef, and usually, with the aid of a can opener, is enabled to live quite luxuriously upon "Famine, Famine, bully beef and beans." The can opener often times is about the whole equipment, the food being eaten from the top of a newspaper, which is thrown out the window after the meal is finished—this eliminates the housewife's never-ending job of washing dishes.

The great American game of poker is one of the favorite diversions, which is carried on continuously to the accompaniment of music from banjos, mandolins and violins, not necessarily in tune or harmony. Dancing, singing, under difficulties, is also popular, and many fantastic stunts are produced up and down the aisles, resulting, in many cases, of beautifully hurled shins.

In the main, the harvester party is made of a group of most genial spirits and old time friendships are developed that last for years.

MAIL ORDER SYSTEM THAT IS A NUISANCE

The High River Times refers to the latest plan of working a mail order game as follows:

Newspapers in other communities are now giving publicity to the salesmanship post that has annoyed people in Swift Current for some time.

Reference is made to the practice of sending articles through the mail, unaccompanied by an accompanying letter either to return the goods or remit the amount of invoice attached.

The mail order business is the most common. Mostly the goods are cheap and shoddy, a disguise for the reasonable price. The public is advised that it is unnecessary to pay attention to the letters asking for return of the goods. A person is within legal right to inform the person that he must call and get them.

The practice is annoying, however, and there seems to be a desire to offer some sort of action.

Cross Section of a Firestone

Tire "Made to Sell"Enjoy the Comfort, Safety and Economy of Gum-Dipped Tires

The sections of tires reproduced above are a part of the Firestone Dealer program. Study these two sections and you, too, will understand what Firestone means by tires built for service and tires made to sell.

The Firestone Gum-Dipped Balloon Tire with its scientifically designed tread permits free flexing, easier riding, extra comfort and safety, while the gum-dipping process gives it the wearing properties that give thousands of extra miles.

The ordinary tire with the heavy tread design is obviously stiffer and rides harder. The excess rubber, placed for appearance at the edge of the tread, is not only wasted but produces hanging action causing a 75 per cent increase in "skidding" tread.

Your local Firestone Dealer will gladly explain the gum-dipping process and other advantages that only Firestone Gum-Dipped tires can give. See him today.

YOUR WILL IS REVOKED
BY MARRIAGE

The last session of the Provincial Legislature passed some legislation which is known as the "Will Act," which should be studied by those who are interested in its provisions.

The Act has made provision for three classes of Wills, which will be considered next. The first class is that of the testator, which is the will made by the testator, or where the Will is made in exercise of a power of appointment, and the property thereby appointed would not be default of such appointment, goes to the heir.

The Act makes one very important provision, that every will shall be revoked by the marriage of the testator, except where it is declared in the Will that such a marriage is contemplated, or where the Will is made in exercise of a power of appointment, and the property thereby appointed would not be default of such appointment, goes to the heir.

HIGHWAY MENACES

OSHAWA—The Times says: Among these highway menaces are the general and seemingly unobscured use of glass headlights, the use of only one light, and in-out driving, since standardization of automobile lights is a pressing need. For while the glare of light is a menace, it is closely related to the weak light, which, if approached rapidly, gives drivers of cars moving in the wrong impression of distance. The one-light car sends its spotlight beam ahead as a signal of possible disaster. Adding to the hazard of night driving, it is a fruitful source of accidents, glaring lamps, however, from the real terror of the road. In-out driving drives into the special danger from the narrowness of the highway, unstandardized lights and recklessness in general. To the driver who can estimate distance and speed, they "take chances" and one of the results is needless accidents which range from a bent fender to lifelong injury or death.
